Cour ... eyes ordinance

Appomattox Town Council approved a resolution Monday night requiring property owners to keep their premises free of trash and debris which will expedite removal of condemned buildings within the town limits.

The ordinance, if passed, will give the Council power as a housing authority to condemn buildings which have been condemned due to health or safety reasons. The building's owner may request a hearing before the council, under the proposed ordinance, would have the power to place a lien against the property to recover the expense of the removal.

In another matter, the council voted to set three period of the year for town-funded removal of brush from private property.

The first week of January, a week in spring and a week in autumn will be set aside each year for removal of brush and debris. Residents may hold a public hearing on a request for conditional use of a building on private property. Action taken by the Council.

Currently, the town truck has been answering individual calls for removal of brush at random times, according to Town Manager Bill Britton.

Under the new plan, the town truck will pick up trash during the three weeks specified each year.

Britton noted that the spring clean-up will be coordinated with the annual town-wide cleanup sponsored by the Appomattox Anti-Litter campaign.

Britton asked that citizens be responsible for removing trash from their homes or business during periods of inclement weather.

The Council members also voted to hold a public hearing on a request for conditional use of a building on Hotel Ave. which formerly housed the Appomattox Motel.

Chuck Foster, a local realtor, asked for the conditional use permit in order to locate an amusement center and a real estate office in the building.

The building, known commonly as the "old George's Auction" building, has three separate businesses, Foster told the Council.

Council members voted to establish a date for public comments against the proposed conditional use, pass the request as stated.

The Council also voted to close a portion of a street in the Morris Development which is currently not in use.

Mays offers pointers

Monte Mays, commissioner of revenue for Appomattox County, has suggestions that could save taxpayers money on their income tax returns, Mays notes.

Mays notes that several common errors have shown up repeatedly in returns he has processed in his office during the past year. He makes the following suggestions in order to expedite taxpayers' refunds in Appomattox County.

1) Be sure the return is signed by both husband and wife if filing a joint return.

2) Attach all necessary schedules from the federal return that support gross receipts. For example, if a farm schedule F shows a loss of a non-profit, please submit that schedule. Likewise, if a business schedule (Schedule C) shows a profit, please submit that schedule.

3) Note that the adjusted gross income on the federal form 1040 for 1981 should be transferred to line 31. This amount is transferred to line 12 the state income tax form 760 on line 5; thus, the amount written on line 31 of federal form 1040 should be the same amount written on line 5 of state for 760.

The adjusted gross amount on the short form for 1981 should be transferred to line 12 of the 1980 form, where adjusted gross income was entered on line 11. Line 12 of form 1040A federal short form and line 5 of form 760S state short form.

4) On form 760 (Virginia State Income Tax Return), it is in most cases, advantageous for those filing taxes, if both husband and wife had income, to use filing status number 3 (married, filing jointly). Usually results in less tax than filing status number 2 (married, filing jointly).

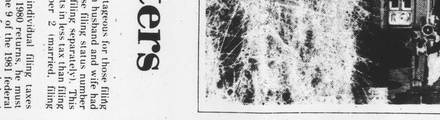
5) Be sure the individual filing taxes itemized his 1980 returns. He must include on line 9 of the 1981 federal form refunds of state and local income taxes received then, on the state return must be added back, that is not taxed.

6) Please make sure you have all W2 forms from all employees you have during the year. Without these you will have to file your tax return again.

Mays notes that the Commissioner of Revenue's office will not assist with federal office will not Wednesdays. Wednesdays are state income tax return audit days, according to Mays.

Ravaged by fire

MONDAY WAS A BUSY DAY for the Appomattox County Volunteer Fire Department. The firemen responded to a call Monday morning for a truck fire in Vera. The fire was in the truck's engine and easily extinguished, with no danger to the volunteers.



prepare gins. Monday afternoon, the firemen were called to duty, this time to put out a field fire which blazed over several acres off Route 611. This task, too, was promptly handled by the volunteers. (Photos by Bill Sherrod)

Donations sought for Moore family

The family of Floyd Moore, who lost their home and all belongings in a fire on Feb. 2.

Donations of items of clothing are being sought to help the family. Needed are size 12, girl's size 8, woman's, size 12; man's size medium shirt, and 36 first, second and third pants; size 36 jeans; and size 7½ shoes.

The family is also in need of linens.

The Woodmen of the World building will be open to receive any items from Ralph Reynolds.

Floyd is originally from Appomattox but is living in Amherst at this time, according to WOW spokesman Ralph Reynolds.

Greetings. Appomattox appears to be holding up just fine. Mr. Adams, broken tree limbs and a temporary shortage of smallbird seed have occurred, but that is about it. Broken water pipes are hardest to prepare for, but mostly can be avoided. What did one TV in winter before delivery to entertain us? Well, working on the woodpile and drying the laundry consumed a lot of time. Now, with the TV working again, I have an ample supply of small bird seed. For no particular reason I fell to wondering if Appomattox had any bird feeders. I suppose dogs and it takes more to feed them, according to stacks of food for them stocked up in stores. I small birds. Stout winds would loose lots of winter weakened tree limbs. Looking forward, a key to getting an early start in gardening is enough to prepare the soil. Not wise to plow when soil is wet, especially if you have red clay. Note:...pause to answer the phone. A valued reader reported that Appomattox people, Pam Ferguson, Waynesboro and writes poetry as a hobby and was featured in the Feb. 5 issue of The Waynesboro News Virginian. Pam graduate, Kim studied at Graduate Business Roberts University and also served as a nurse at a Lynchburg hospital. And a borrowed remark from a valued reader just back from Key West, Florida, brings me a Jan. 24 copy of The Florida Times-Union, one of assorted newspapers. The Key West Citizen is the southernmost newspaper in the U.S.

Basketball. I used to mention Slippery Rock State College (Pa.) very often and came across a book friend had sent me. It was packed with the sports pages of the daily paper and there it was. Slippery Rock 78, Lock Haven 77. Gee, Sampson have received seeds of merits a national No. One rating. But I came across a shorter news girls basketball team. They defeated Piedmont College, 116 to 12. And a borrowed remark from among the nation's best by Mington & Burch.

Friday is Lincoln's birthday. I always thought Washington's birthday was Feb. 22, but my calendar has Feb. 15 so marked. Maybe I'll take your car to the garage. We'll check it out." That expression is much used and does not refer to a bank balance.

A few sentences short this week. Next February it's a short month. Thanks for reading and seeya around.

Bloodmobile to visit Appomattox Feb. 22

The Bloodmobile will be in Appomattox on Monday, Feb. 22 from 12 noon until 6 p.m. at the Liberty Baptist Church.

"We need your help in order to obtain a quota of 100 units," Chairman of the Blood Services for the county, Mrs. Alice C. Martin, said. We have already received a unit of blood as a helping hand. We need you.
